Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

FROM MARCH 1. TO MARCH 8. 1738,9.

BRISTOL, October 13.

OUR City and Suburbs have been ſtrangely diſturbed for theſe ſeveral Days paſt, by the turbulent Commotions and Inſurrections of the Colliers of Kingswood, but chiefly by thoſe that work intirely in the Coal-Mines. They have play'd ſuch mad Pranks, that one wou'd think they had forgot there were ever any Laws in Being for the Government of a People, and to ſecure the Peace and Property of the Subject; and tho' theſe miſguided People have their almoſt entire Subſiſtance from this City, yet have they thought fit, not only to cut off all Communication of the Wheel and Horſe Carriage, by Dint of Ax, Club and Staff, and thereby depriving the Inhabitants of their Firing; but are alſo turn'd Collectors on the Road.

The Riſe of this Diſturbance proceeded from a Grievance among themſelves; ſeveral Perſons having rented ſome old Works, and finding the Production capable of Improvement, have underſold the Proprietors of the other Works, in their ſmall Coal, which ſupply the Glaſs-Houſes, Smiths, and Sugar-Houſes. Thoſe Proprietors that were chiefly injur'd by this, would fain oblige the Pitmen to work for a lower Price, by ſinking their Wages from Sixteen-pence to One Shilling per Day; which was ſo ill-reliſhed, that they abſolutely refus'd a Compliance; and to remedy the Evil, gather'd by Degrees to a conſiderable Body.

About Three o'Clock on Monday, which was the firſt of their Riſing, a Body of about 60 enter'd Totterdown-Houſe, drank up a conſiderable Quantity of Liquor; beat and abuſed the Landlord and Landlady, and without paying for their Liquor, retir'd to the reſt of their Body in the Road. From thence they proceeded to Buſsleton, where they forced ſeveral of the civiliz'd Colliers into their Service, and violently beat thoſe who refus'd; enter'd what Houſes they pleas'd; eat and drank every Thing they could come at, without paying any Money; throw'd a great deal of Coal into the Pits; and burnt all the Oaken Poles us'd in propping up the Mine-Works; but to ſtop their further Miſchief, one of the Clerks of the Mines gave them a Guinea's worth of ſtrong Drink; and 'Squire Cobb alſo gave them ſome Pails full, to prevent their forcing into his Houſe, but they ſwore they would come next Morning and deſtroy their Fire-Engine; alſo thoſe in Kingſwood, and the Locks on the River between Bath and Briſtol.

Tueſday, Wedneſday and Thurſday we have had much the ſame Accounts. Tueſday Evening they ſtopped two Drivers of the London Waggons, and lightned them of their Money. The ſame Night they broke the Windows of the Pack-Houſe on the London Road, belonging to Mrs. Silverthorn, and made other Progreſs in their return.

Thurſday Evening, they ſtopped the Bath Coach on Buſsleton Common, and borrowed the Paſſengers and Coachman's Money; they alſo had 18 s. 6 d. from Mr. Joſeph Whitehead and Money from other Perſons on Horſeback.

Thoſe violent Commotions have induced the Magiſtrates of the City to ſend an Expreſs to Court with an Account thereof. And Tueſday the Conſtables of the City were conven'd at the Council-Houſe, and receiv'd ſtrict Orders from the Magiſtrates not to be abſent from their Duty. The Watch was doubled, by the Addition of ſome ſtout ſupernumerary Conſtables, who patroll'd the City from Nine at Night till Six in the Morning. The Military Guard was alſo doubled throughout the City; and a Party of Soldiers were under Arms in the Square, to be ready in caſe the Colliers paid the City a ſecond Viſit, which they threatned.

Divers Informations have been made on Oath againſt ſome of the Colliers, who are well known.

October 15. We have to add to the forgoing Account of the Colliers, that Tueſday laſt, during the Heat of their Commotions, a great Body of them went to 'Squire Cheſter's, enter'd his Kitchen, and took from the Fire a fine large Piece of Beef that was then roaſting, together with the Spit, and carried it into the open Field,

Field where they devoured all but the Spit, and then retir'd without waſhing it down.

They have viſited ſeveral other Gentlemen who have alſo large Concerns in the Coal-Works, and by threatning to fill up their Pits, have extorted from them divers Sums of Money.

The City being now in perfect Peace, and the Colliers return'd to their Duty, the ſupernumerary Conſtables of the City are now diſcharg'd.

We hear from Bath, that the Colliers have appear'd about thoſe Parts; but we hear of no extraordinary Exploit, except extorting a Piece or two of Gold from 'Squire Harrington of Corſton.

LONDON, Octob. 14. Notwithſtanding the wholeſome Laws provided againſt the illegal Practice of Smuggling, the Sweets whereof are ſo great, while the Duties are ſo high, that 'tis to be fear'd there never will be wanting Men daring enough to venture their Lives and Fortunes for ſuch extraordinary Gain; an Inſtance whereof was plainly ſeen on Thurſday Morning, when, about Five o'Clock, a Gang of them well mounted, richly loaded, and ſtrongly arm'd, rode openly over London-Bridge, in Sight of ſome Officers, in whom it would not have been Prudence to attack them.

We hear from the County of Havenſtein in the Black-Foreſt, that the Peaſants of thoſe Parts were up in Arms againſt their Superiors, under Pretext that the latter had ceded to the Community of St. Blaiſe ſeveral Franchiſes of which the Peaſants were in Poſſeſſion; a Thing which ought not to have been done without their Conſent; and that they demanded to be reſtored to their antient Privileges and Prerogatives: The Number of Peaſants in Arms amounts to 2600.

From different Parts of the Country we have Accounts of the great Quantities of Rain lately fallen, by which ſeveral Tracts of Land are laid under Water, and the Roads in many Places render'd impaſſable; in general 'tis ſaid, ſo much Rain has not fallen at this Seaſon for many Years.

Letters from Conſtantinople, by the way of Venice, confirm the Account of a Sea-Fight between the Ruſſian and Turkiſh Fleets, but ſay, that the Loſs was equal on both Sides; however, after the Fight was over, the Ruſſian Admiral being ſenſible, that he was much inferior to the Turks, in regard to the Strength of his Ships, and on the other Hand, finding himſelf much incumbred with a great Number of Tranſports, he thought it beſt to retire to Aſoph with the great Prames; as to the Tranſport Ships, which could not be brought up thither on account of the Current, he ſent them in a Sort of a Creek, and ordered Batteries to be raiſed on the Shore to prevent the Approach of the Infidels; Admiral Bredal was no ſooner gone, but the Captain Baſhaw ſteered into the Place where the Ruſſian Veſſels lay, in order to take them; but being kept off by a brisk Fire from the Batteries, he landed Part of his Men, who defeated the Ruſſians and drove them from their Batteries; upon which thoſe who were in the Tranſports made off with ſeventy Sail, after ſetting Fire themſelves to about Forty of their own Veſſels.

Novemb. 25. Yeſterday it was ſaid at the Change, that an Engagement happen'd in the Weſt-Indies, between the Windſor, a Britiſh Man of War, and a Spaniſh Guarda Coſta, and that the Windſor had taken the Spaniſh Veſſel.
